The 1944 Piper

All over the world there are Baldwin men and women serving our country loyally, bravely, and devotedly, as they once served their school. From all over the world, however brief their leave or furlough, they trek back to Baldwin in affection and respect for their school. To them, former boys and girls of Baldwin, our present students and this 1944 Piper Staff are proud and glad to dedicate this book.

The sense of responsibility which we feel as a nation for assuming some leadership in adjusting world conditions places the high schools of our country in a very important position. From now on, the outlook for America is to be linked closely with the outlook of the whole world. If this is to be a reality it means that in our high schools we will have to train our students to think in terms of this point of view. We will have to lead them to believe that the ultimate outlook for America is bright, for the simple reason that the world urgently needs what America has to give.

In Baldwin High School we are endeavoring to meet this challenge. We are attempting to train our students to meet the immediate problems which they face in carrying on the war effort, but we are making sure, too, that we are not losing sight of the equally important tasks of post-war reconstruction.

In our curriculum we have added courses which particularly fit students to serve in the conduct of the war effort. Courses in aeronautics, electricity and simple machines, physical fitness, radio, and auto mechanics have been included in an effort to give some of the specific technical training which is needed in war activities. We believe that these courses will have an important carry-over value in peace time activities, too. Moreover, all of our regular academic courses are being adapted to present-day activity and thinking. In this way they, too, are preparing the students for immediate emergencies.

But beyond the scope of immediate emergencies the high school has the responsibility for training students for post-war living. It is for this reason that we have been reluctant to lower our standards and curtail the basic academic training of our school. We have felt that beyond the needs of the immediate future of our students are the needs for preparing them for lives of worth-while activity and accomplishment after the war is over.

The response of our school has been encouraging. We are confident that if everyone were doing as much as our students and teachers in contributing to the war effort, the boys in the armed forces would be greatly inspired in their efforts. They have justly contributed their share in the purchase of stamps and bonds, in scrap paper collection, fats collection, in donating blood for the blood bank, and in part-time employment in essential enterprises.

For all of these accomplishments we congratulate our young people, and trust that they will develop into inspired leaders which will make us say that they are truly American.

Dear Bud,

Ah, for the life of an American soldier! You have the best country in the world backing you, and your sc' job in Illinois and Bern for many.

There is to serve irrigation to waste paper. In one aspect sold, and our in the fat drive worked along in over 29,000 lbs. nice going, eh?

Baldwin is proud of its boys in the service and is straining every muscle to help in winning the war and bring you boys back home again.

Love,
Carol

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT PERMIT NO. 1

The Students

You no doubt have been spending a bit of your time in foxholes, while I've been making a practice of keyhole peeking. It's really quite a sport; you should try it some time—that is, if you haven't already!

Why, just the other day, I stopped at the door of room 101 and put my new hobby to excellent use. I pecked through the keyhole in the nick of time to see Bill Garfield (president of Student Congress) swing the old gavel and call the meet in order.

I must admit that Congress has been right on its toes all year long. Both semesters it has had excellent officers and a group of very enthusiastic representatives. "Bold Bill" Garfield held the office of president for two terms. Pat Price and Bob Erwin were our vice presidents; Sally Mock and Gerry Lynn were our able secretaries and Dottie Scott and "Honest Teddy" Mansfield took care of the Congress money.

Now that I'm on the subject of Congress, you'd probably like to know just what has been accomplished this year. They've done so much that I don't know exactly where to begin, but I guess I might as well start by mentioning some of the efficient committees that functioned throughout the entire year.

The bulletin board committee caused the greatest commotion when it posted baby pictures of the football players early in the fall. You should have seen them—the baby pictures I mean.

The noon hour committee did extremely well this semester too. Ping pong was in full swing every noon in room 101 and amazing as it may seem some of the girls even played bridge in the same room. I'm sure, if you'll think back, you'll remember that, in past years, even setting foot in room 101 at noon hour was practically out of their world

Hmmm—mustn't forget the Honor Roll and Courtesy Committees, 'cause they were a couple of our new brain children. Every marking period the Honor Roll committee made out a list of the students who received 3.5 averages and posted their names in the little showcase right outside the office. The courtesy committee welcomed and showed the new students entering Baldwin around the school

The traditional "Pigskin Prom" and the "Holly Hop" were combined this year, due to wartime conditions, and under that invigorating name—the "Canteen Canter." It was in honor of the football team and the men in service, and it really went over with a bang, as did the Spring dance, in spite of the lack of decoration

Congress got a bright idea and decided to have the Ice Carnival in the latter part of December, while the ice was still good, rather than waiting till later when it would have been fit only for a fish. The Carnival was managed and organized entirely by the students with student judges 'n everything. Of course, though, the climax of the whole event was the crowning of "King Carl" Blauman and "Queen Carol" Smith, who, I might add, looked their parts

It would take pages more to mention all of the things that Congress has done this year, but I've touched the high spots So you now have a general idea of what was what in Congress 1943 '44, and you must also be acquainted with the fact that your old school is still climbing up the ladder

This year Baldwin has played an even greater part in winning the war. The organizations behind the scenes were the Baldwin Defense Council and the Junior Defense Council of Birmingham. But if it hadn't been for the loyal support of every student, the efforts of these organizations would have failed.

The Junior Defense Council lays the groundwork for all the war work carried on in the schools. It is an organization composed of representatives of the defense councils of Baldwin, Barnum, and Holy Name, as well as the principals of the schools, Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, and W. S. Toothacker. Officers of the Council are: president, Jeanne Wilkins; vice president, Don McLeese; and secretary, Jeanne Blinn.

After the general plans are made, Baldwin's Defense Council puts them into effect. Both councils work together, not for glory but for service to their school, community, and country. Deserving of recognition are the officers who made this year so successful. Serving the two semesters were: presidents Donis Murray and Ed Brungraber; vice presidents, Jeanne Bunn and Sybil Finch; secretaries, Carmela DiPietro and Mary Lou Brungraber; and treasurers, Abbie Stoll and Dotty Davis.

One of the major and most vital projects of the Council is the handling of the weekly bond and stamp sales. This is truly a big job. Just ask Ernest Chritton! All year he faithfully takes orders for the stamps and is responsible for keeping the records complete and up-to-date.

During the Fourth War Loan Drive, Baldwin went over the top, doubling her last year's quota with $21,873 in bonds and stamps. Homeroom 222 led the school in total sales throughout the year—thanks to Louis Keenan, who personally sold 2000 dollars worth. To promote the drive some of the 10B English classes, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Hartwick, made patriotic posters and placed them around the school. Walter Dixon and Bill Hayes served as co-chairmen of this campaign to them and their efforts were much of the credit for the success of the drive.

Baldwin answered the Government's call for war bonds with a great drive. They were the first in the city and the students responded enthusiastically. To boast the tonnage and the morale and spirit among the students they were worked on a competitive basis between the schools. Baldwin began the race in the last drive and won. As each school reached its goal one while the other was still working Baldwin surpassed all the other schools of Brooklyn, with a total of 9805 pounds. Many students were seen going up and down the hallways just before the time of the bond drives. A paper was then printed, "Queen of the Bond Drive through and Esquire." Thus Baldwin did its part in helping to alleviate the acute need of the country by contributing to the war effort.

It seems however, that after drives like yours and mine with others. This year will be the year when we will be faced with the most extreme. Again the Patriotic spirit lent itself to the project as they purchased bonds at the rate of $1000.00 per student.

Scenes

Although the Girls' League is fairly new among organizations of Baldwin, it has already made a mark.

The purposes of the organization are to promote fellowship among the girls, to develop interest in service to the school and the community.

To get better acquainted with the various colored parties in their honor, the girls have organized at the C. S. Lewis Auditorium.

In the winter the girls have been busy for the Red Cross, made cards for the service men, and took charge of the Red Cross booth.

The Lost and Found department, which was established by the financial committee, proved a great help to many students.

The officers and members of the Girls' League are elected each semester. This year's officers did a good job. Serving as president, for the second year, is Jackie Buck and Doris M.

Levely and Barbara Breckert; legislative chairmen are Abby Price and Dorothy working as co-chairmen.

Recording secretary is Janet Zinser; Sally Mock; and treasurer is Ruth Birmingham.

Adviser to the Girls' League is Mrs. E. L. Brown, who has been a great help to the girls during the year.

Top Girls' League representatives Lois Brown and Sally Kreidier are here seen dragging in the big Christmas tree which will add a festive spirit to Baldwin's dreary hall. Bottom: Abby Stoll, Betty Holmes, Barbara Breckert, "Ike" Oswald, Elizabeth Phelps, Adele Birrell, and Nancy Burns faithfully lent their services for the Red Cross Drive this year.

The Music Makers

An important part of the B. brunnescens known band T. T. C. expected to be the interests of the individual who has been involved in the project.

Under the direction of A. J. W. Berry, the best mental groups of Boston were gathered at the 11th strides during the year 1914, and the results were several. The 11th Annual Meeting was held at the
F. D. Roosevelt High School, Franklin Street, on October
25th, 1914. Mrs. Berry presided over the meeting.
It is to the credit of Outstanding pieces of music which were Rhapsody in Blue by George Gershwin. The Merry Wives of Windsor, by William Shakespeare and the Negroes were seen in the Pigskin Pageant by David Burman. The March of the Steel Men, by Charles B. Haviland.

Thanksgiving Day there was a football game with Royal Oak. The students had a Thanksgiving Pageant with the American Indians, all of the homecoming games, basketball games and football games was also included in the program.

Much interest will likely be shown in the S-100 system.

Harmony's Children

Baldwin is justly proud of the a cappella choir and its accomplishments. Lack of transportation has hampered this organization to such an extent that no festivals were scheduled, and there were no out-of-town engagements this year. Nevertheless, its quality was not impaired when it came to local participation. Chorus is the second group that is most presented annually by the choir. Other activities consisted of several performances before local church groups, and the sixth annual concert for the Rotary Club.

For the first time in several years an amateur, Sonia, was named for this year. The parts were taken by Gwen Tipton, Ted Mansfield, Jean Pasher, Jack Mire, and Nancy Mire. The solo parts were chosen from outside the choir. Linda, an experienced and capable student, was Miss Ruth Hall speech instructor and director coach.

In the second year of its existence the choir has been improving and meeting the needs of the group. The older director, Dick Moore, is this year's president while Bob Erwin, Gwen Tipton, Lynn Dalton, and Shirley Stuckeys comprise the rest of this efficient group. The choir's extensive list decisions involving charters and business outside business. It was the choir's turn in the ticket selling campaign for the opt-out.

The choir has performed a number of classical selections this year. Among them are Incline Thine Ear, Oh Lord, by Arkhangelsky; When Allen-A-Dale Went A-Hunting, by de Pearsall, and Aschenbrenner's The Peasant and His Oxen. Two very new favorites are The British Children's Prayer, by Wolfe; and The Voice of Freedom, by Colhet.

Caring and talented Victor Ulrich is director of the choir. He is an inspiring leader and responsible for our much enthusiasm. Mary Jane Stephens is the keyboardist.

Some of the most popular courses of Baldwin this year are those known as pre-induction. These are designed to help prepare Baldwin students for the Armed Forces and have met with unusual success.

Because of the need for practical training the Baldwin administration has placed one semester of any pre-induction course on the required list for graduation. Many courses of this type are now offered.

One of these courses enrolling most students is the physical fitness program. Physical education has been made compulsory by the State of Michigan. Baldwin's program is in its second year. The main objective is to prepare the boys for the kind of physical toughening that they will encounter in the Army or Navy.

At the beginning of this school year the physical fitness program was under the direction of Coach Hal Helmer. When Coach Lloyd Cooper arrived about November 1, he took over these duties.

Mr. Cooper has been giving his classes several kinds of conditioning exercises. He has installed a system devoting the gym period to various activities. Some of these are marching, boxing, calisthenics, and running. Some of the time is spent at "Smear", a game which is a cross between football and basketball.

W. S. Toothacker is instructing in three pre-induction courses. They are radio, electricity, and physics.

the Boys

The radio course was introduced at Baldwin last year. It is useful in preparing students for the Navy's radar program and for the Army Signal Corps. In connection with this course there is a radio code class which meets two evenings a week.

Electricity, also taught by Mr. Toothacker, is a practical course which includes a great deal of laboratory work. Students in this course do a great deal of work in diagraming and writing.

Physics and chemistry, taught by Mr. Toothacker and Mr. Hubbard respectively, are also part of the pre-induction program. These courses are both of the classroom lecture type with laboratory work included.

One of the most popular and successful of the pre-induction courses is auto mechanics. This course is conducted by Maynard Mott in a completely new building added to Hill School. This building has been outfitted with the newest and most modern equipment.

Incidentally—although not strictly pre-induction courses—a wartime program of compulsory subjects has been put into effect for the girls at Baldwin. Each girl is required to take one semester of either foods, clothing, or household science, and all are required to take physical education.

In the course in foods the girls study nutrition and put into effect what they have learned. Clothing teaches sewing and good taste in clothes. Household science teaches care of the home in addition to basic principles of foods and clothing.

Thus the home front backs the fighting front

This year the paper's fate was to be

The Pause

After hurrying through a good hot lunch in the school cafeteria, most of the boys make a mad dash for room 101 if they are ping pong enthusiasts or record fiends. Many Baldwinites are.

Upon entering 101, they are greeted by outbursts of shouts and cries coming from the many excited spectators gathered around the ping pong tables. Among these are Bill Eade or Bob Goldman making spectacular shots.

Above the shouts one can hear hot music coming from one end of the room. On the stage one notices a large group of boys gathered around the record player. In the midst of this group is Bill Thoms, who runs the machine. Bill has also contributed many hot jive records.

Leaving the stage and walking towards the opposite end of the room, one finds a small group of girls playing cards, usually bridge, with many girls and boys watching them play. On many occasions when there are no girls playing bridge, there will be a group of boys in a corner playing cards, but they aren't playing bridge.

Remember that there are homeroom basketball games in the gym, we immediately depart. These games are always hard fought and often they get very rough. There is a wives' race with the girls, and there are fans and basketball tournaments with the boys in the contests. The outcome of the games is decided until the final whistle blows. On the days when the boys are not playing, one will always find the girls in the gym playing basketball and badminton.

Through the efforts of Miss Margaret Wink, the school cafeteria has won many awards. The state's annual Cafeteria Quiz reveals that 11 of the forty-eight institutions are sold each year. These meals are government approved and consist of a hot plate, a sandwich and fruit.

In addition to the three hot meals the team cooks and milk are sold to those who own their own teams. A crew of 15 is needed to meet the demands of the students and this group is composed of girls in cooking classes who receive class credit for their work.

To be in shape this half term is not the same thing as it is during the fall semester. We are lucky to have Mrs. McLean serve on the faculty.

Top: The cafeteria staff, led by Margaret Wink, are hard workers and good cooks. They are well liked by all the students.

It's all said for the year to come otherwise his stomach. This is true. But I think that there is other causes in the world, such as, the food the students eat. It's like just eat it, don't worry about it, if I know that's what it is. Jesus and I does that take care of tooth aches. They are our friends way to set a tide. We live life but it's not the same.

Dear Bud,

Remember where you were still walking the spacious halls of dear old Baldwin, they had the Variety Show every year and The Highlander came out every Thursday on schedule? Well, things have changed quite a bit since then — on account of the war.

We couldn't put out The Highlander this year because there's only one printing class to do the work of three, and for lack of time and teachers we aren't having the Variety Show either. We really miss both of them!

It's really funny to watch the kids pile out of those antique jalopies every morning. Sometimes there are eleven packed into one car. The kids just laugh about gas rationing and fill their cars to capacity plus. "The more, the merrier" is their motto now.

The Little Brown Jug that we've had our eye on right onto ten years is finally ours. The boys really did that Thanksgiving game up in fine style! Or had you heard?

The kids here at Baldwin are all buying bonds and stamps hand over fist, knowing that their money is bringing the end of the War just that much closer. This letter will have to be short and sweet, but blame it on the V-mail.

Write real soon,

love,

Marge

An added attraction is the opening of the swimming pool. Every Monday and Thursday four classes of beginners and experts take in the water with Miss Clark giving instruction and advice if you need it. The Red Cross First Life Saving course was also given in May and those taking it finally won the coveted certificate.

High school GAA action was the buskett or ball which was played out in the gymnasium. The girls took basketball very seriously and every girl of a team was present in the gym practicing the skills of passing, and that's what made them teamwork. Under the guidance of Miss Clarke the girls played the game with a will and won their victories.

They took Royal Oak by storm in the gymnasium at the same time. The teams were evenly matched and played a tight affair. Birmingham won by a score of 15-13. The next game against Kingswood was won by Wixford by a few points because of the weather.

Birmingham went to Kingswood to take on the Kingswood team at 20-6. A fast Kingswood offensive drew the girls off balance so they trailed for the remainder of the game. They came away satisfied though, but suffered again in the final game the following week when they trounced Kingswood in the Birmingham floor by a score of 16-3.

The team played Royal Oak in Royal Oak for its 10th game and won in a close contest 22-21 by five points at the half and 27-21 Royal Oak in the last quarter of the game 30-25.

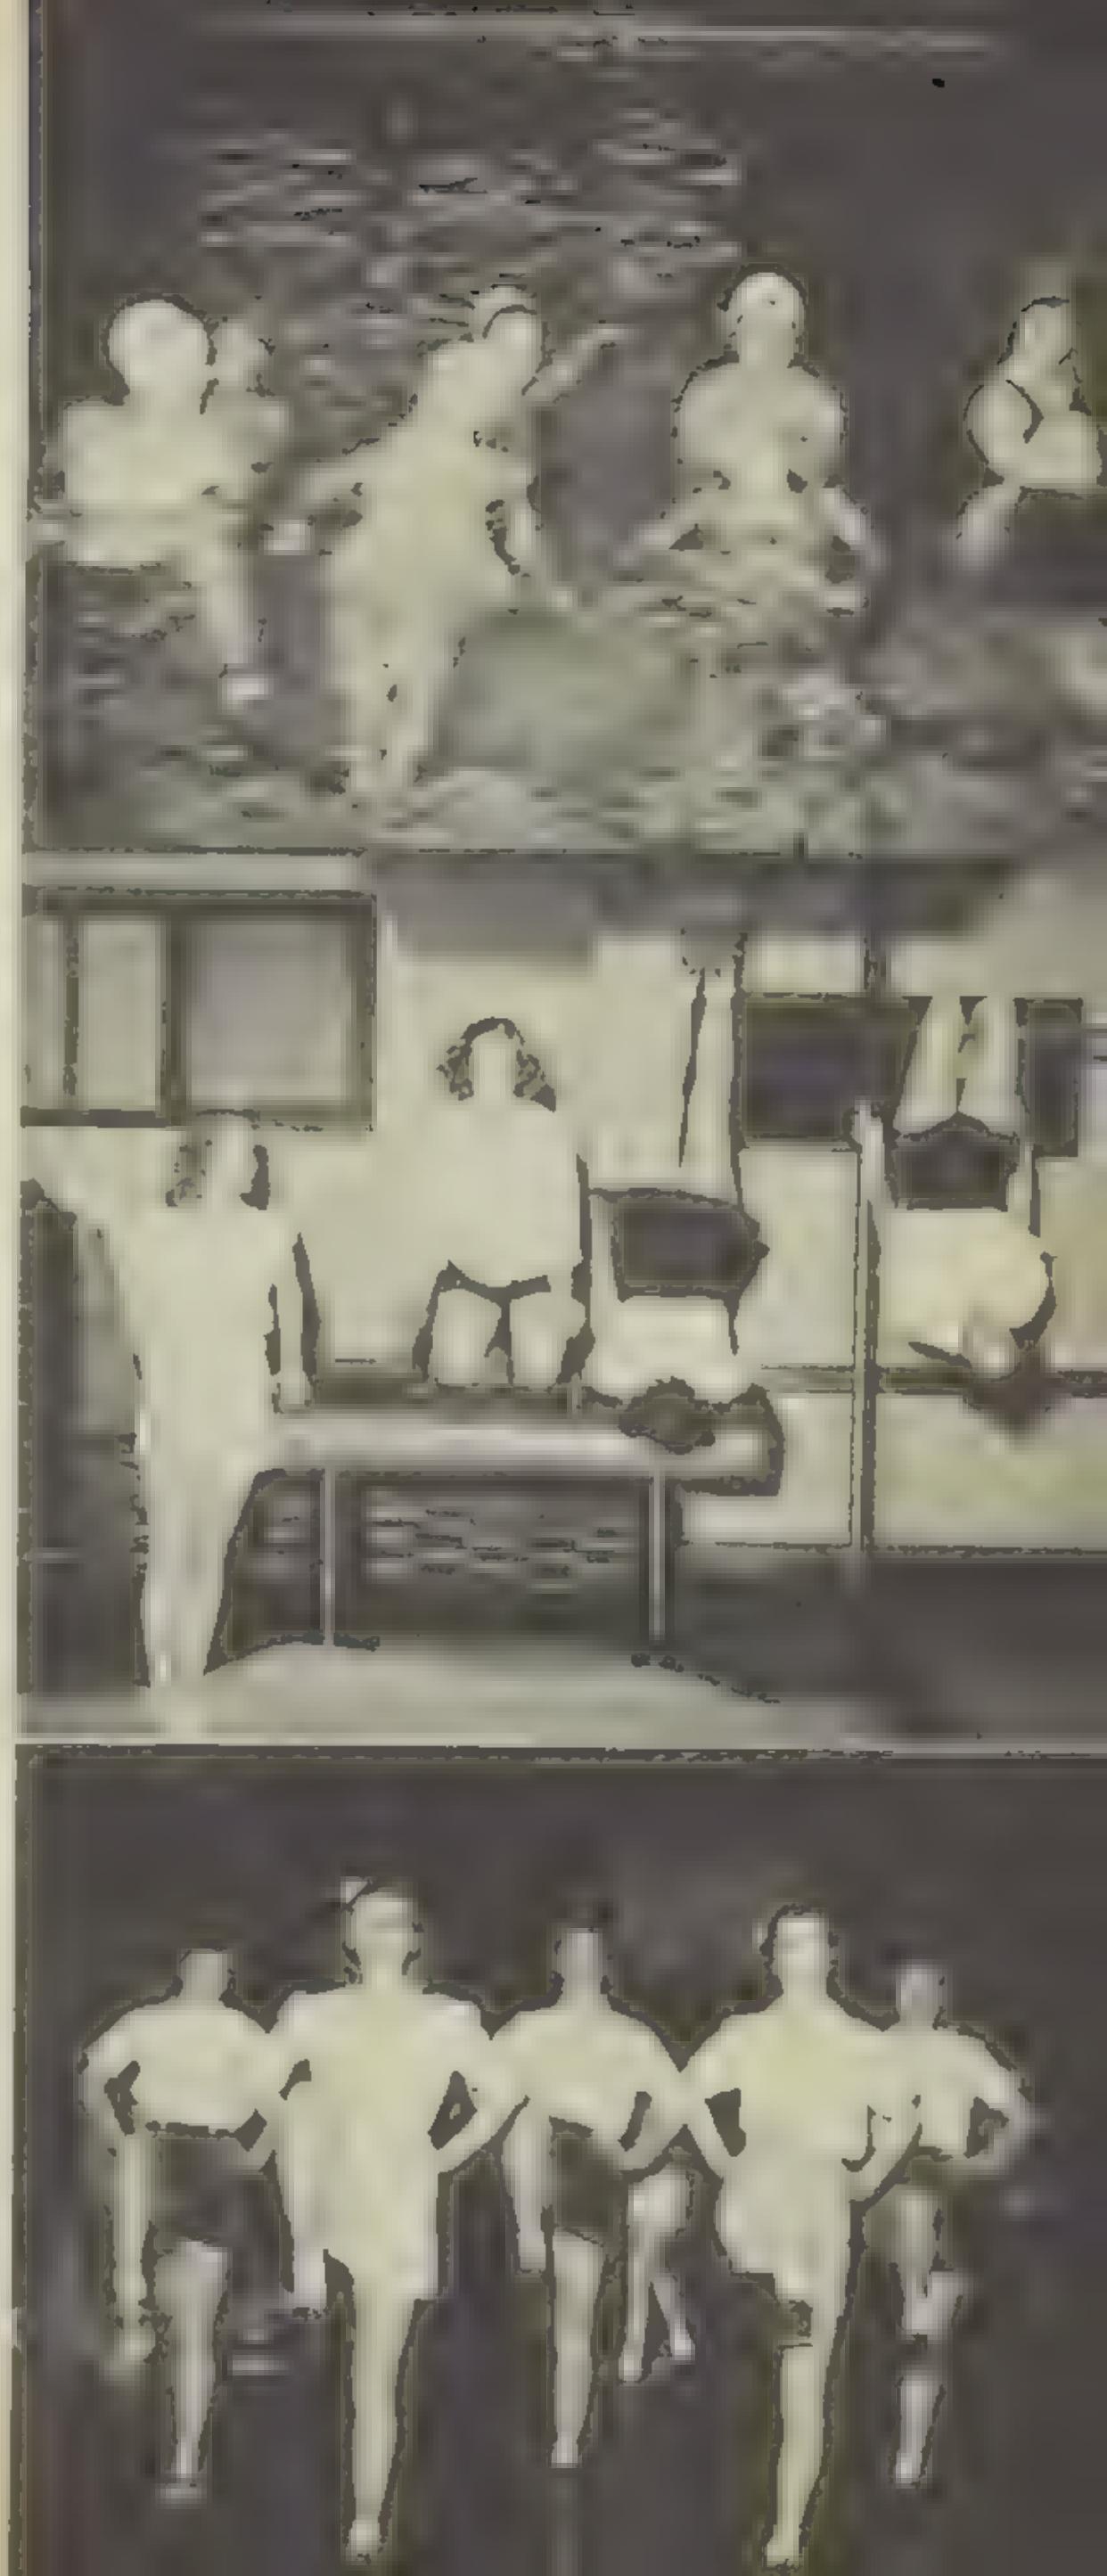

High scorer for the season was Donna Kramer with 29 points.

Aiming to carry out their theme for the year, "Let's get acquainted", the Baldwin P.T.A. under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Niedenfuhr, president, and Mrs. Fred J. In this way parents became acquainted with students through working with them in planning for the parties, and ~~me~~ me to know their class-

The junior party was given December 20. A quaint old movie called The Cat's Paw, starring Harold Lloyd, was shown after which hamburgers, hotdogs, and cokes were served in the cafeteria. Later there was dancing to the tunes of the ~~records~~ records.

The senior class party, last but not least, was held February 2. After a showing of The Juggernaut starring Boris Karloff followed by eats, they also enjoyed dancing in the gym and pinball. The party ended with a variety show featuring the school band, the glee club, and the drama club. The show was well received with the audience taking the affairs a little more seriously. Credit is due Jim and Mabel Miller who took care of the lights and record machines. The money raised by money was turned over to the P.T.A. fund. The end of the school year is near at all parties was good fun. It would be to have them continued throughout the year. All who came went home happy, well fed, and well entertained.

Coach Hal Helmer came to Birmingham from Lake Orion in the fall of 1943. In the short time he has been here, he has won the respect and friendship of all the students and faculty, and especially the fellows he has coached.

While in high school himself, Coach Helmer was a star athlete, winning 15 letters. He won four letters each in football, baseball, and track, and three in basketball.

After completing college he joined the Army Air Corps, and while in the Army he was wrestling champion at Fort Shandon, Illinois. After going to advanced flying training school, Coach Helmer was given a medical discharge from the Army.

To add to his long list of athletic accomplishments, Coach Helmer also fought in the Golden Gloves—and coached Birmingham to its first win over Royal Oak in ten long years.

Coach claims his only real hobby is eating and admits that he looks forward to a good meal more than to anything else.

Coach Helmer chose his present profession for the same reason most coaches do; he liked working and playing with young people.

Being a firm believer in physical fitness, especially in athletes, Coach Helmer is noted for his grueling first week practices in football and baseball. While working on the gridiron, Coach's favorite expression is "O.K. you, two laps." Most of his squad inwardly thanked him, however, as the season progressed.

Some mention should also be made of his coaching the B team in basketball. This was a great help to Coach Cooper, who otherwise would have had to coach about twice as many fellows.

Carl Blauman was elected to Baldwin's top football honor, captain of the annual Royal Oak-Birmingham football classic, and honorary captain of the year.

Besides playing an outstanding game at tackle, Carl also kicked off, punted, passed, and sometimes ran the ball.

In addition to getting two letters in football, Carl also received two letters in track, putting the shot. He also went out for basketball during his last semester at Baldwin "just to keep in shape for the Navy"; and due to his aggressive spirit and competitive attitude, he succeeded in winning a place on the reserves and even played on the varsity for the last three games.

Carl is quiet and well liked by both students and faculty, and especially by the fellows he worked with on the football and track squads. He could always be relied on to crack a joke or do something to liven up almost every practice.

Carl was a January student; and although he was never over studious, his ways have no doubt changed by this time as he is now a V-5 Naval Aviation trainee at Western State Teachers' College.

Carl had several hobbies, the most important of which were hunting and fishing, coin collecting, and women. Although few people know it, Carl is a very adept student of piano boogie woogie.

Captain Blauman's loss will be keenly felt next year by the football squad, and the students will miss his quiet friendly personality and his cheery greeting as he scurried through the halls.—Dick Dunn.

Gridiron

A bright sunshiny autumn afternoon marked the beginning of Birmingham's 1943 football season as the Maples journeyed to Grosse Pointe for the curtain raiser. A powerful Pointer eleven, led by All-State fullback Ted Held, was on hand to greet the locals and handed them a 13-0 setback.

Playing host to East Detroit, the Maples opened the season's win column with a 19-0 victory. Bud Keller, season's high scorer, scored two touchdowns and Tom Spiegel accounted for the other as the Maples outplayed their rivals throughout the entire game.

A wet, muddy evening was the setting for the first TVAA game as the Maples met Wayne. After fighting back and forth in the mud for no score in over three periods, the Zebras crossed the Maple goal line to hand the locals a 6-0 defeat.

Ecorse, scene of many an exciting game in previous years, was the next stop on the schedule and found the Maples fully equal to the situation as they ran up a 13-0 score in their first TVAA victory. Bud Keller and Dick McConkie each crossed the enemy goal line and Connie Adams converted.

Journeying to Plymouth the Maples conquered opponents 31-0, scoring in every quarter. Bud led the way, scoring three touchdowns, with Dick McConkie and Tom Spiegel each tallying once. Noteworthy was Pete Gahm's spectacular catch of a long pass, only to have it called back by a penalty. But as Keller said at the football dinner, "A good time was had by all."

In five years of TVAA competition Ypsilanti has failed to score a point on Birmingham; and the '43 game was no exception as Keller, Spiegel, and McConkie scored touchdowns and Adams converted to give the Maples the long end of a 19-0 score.

The fact that an Ecorse victory over Wayne had made possible undisputed TVAA supremacy plus the added desire to avenge last year's 20-6 defeat, gave the Maples the impetus for the 39-0 trouncing they handed Dearborn. The outstanding play of the game was Dick McConkie's interception of a flat pass followed by a 30-yard touchdown run.

Ferndale, chronic Maple jinx, filled that role again this year as the Railsplitters snapped the Maple winning streak at four straight. Returning the opening kick-off of the second half for a touchdown, the Railsplitters scored a 13-7 triumph. Bright spot for Birmingham was Pat O'Connor's beautiful broken field for the Maple touchdown.

Thanksgiving was again the day of a fierce gridiron battle. The thirty-second renewal of the game for the Little Brown Jug, Michigan's oldest gridiron rivalry, was held at Royal Oak's Cass Field. A special pass play from Bud Keller to Dick Dunn, practiced faithfully during the preceding weeks, provided a first down and the touchdown which gave the Maples a 6-0 victory and brought the Jug back to Birmingham for the first time in ten years.

Throughout the remainder of the game the Acorns fought hard, with Bruce Flu, bonecrushing fullback, and other Acorn ball carriers hitting the Maples constantly.

Greats

In Dick Dunn Birmingham had one of its best ends in years. Dunn had the knack of breaking through the blockers and catching the runner by the ankles, time after time. He caught the touchdown pass in the Royal Oak game.

Captain Carl Blauman, tackle, has been one of the Maple mainstays for the last two years. Carl plays a smart, vicious game, as any opposing lineman could tell you.

Ed Brungraber, in his first season as a regular, turned in a very capable game at guard. "Tony" was nearly always found in the middle of the pile when opponents tried to smash the line.

Big Bob Little, center, was the heaviest man in Birmingham's formidable line. He could always be counted upon to play his heart out for four bruising quarters. Little was the man who "broke through and hit 'em" for a five yard loss.

Bob "Little Caesar" Joyce played his second year at guard. Joyce was the sparkplug of the team and is well supplied with "football brains." He played halfback on defense and his pass interceptions were a headache to many a Maple foe.

Don Fisher was bulwark on the team and proved himself very valuable. Fisher was incessantly cutting through the opponent's line and messing up the backfield. The "Big Fish" had a belligerent attitude which endeared him to the fans if not to the foe.

Pete Gahm went out for right end for the first time and won a regular berth at that position. He was quite successful at turning in the around-end power plays the opponents threw at him.

Frank Watts won his second letter at the quarterback post. Frank is a hard blocker and did a fine job running interference for other backs. He was one of the peppiest players on the field and kept the team in a fighting mood.

Another speedy asset to the team was Tom Spiegel, fast and skilled at skirting the ends. He is an accurate passer and tosses them from the port side. Spiegel is a sensational man on pass defense and intercepted four Royal Oak passes in the Thanksgiving game.

Dick McConkie played an outstanding game at right half. "Rick" is specially adept at pile-driving his way through the line. He is a rugged junior who should do much for the Maples next year.

Bud Keller did topnotch work at the fullback slot. Keller is a good signal caller and is also known for his sudden breakaways into the clear. He is an accurate passer and threw the touchdown toss in the Royal Oak game.

The unsung hero of this year's grid squad was Tom Allen, manager. At practice Tom was combination doctor, janitor, referee, and bookkeeper. He was the little man who ran in between quarters with the ever-famous water bucket.

Cage Highlights

The Maples started a most promising season with four consecutive wins over Ypsilanti, 42-3, Ferndale, 45-3, and Plymouth twice, 31-15, 45-15. The team was paced by the scoring of L. D. Little, M. Becker, A. Larson and F. L. Kirby and the passing and shooting ability of Fred Zocchi.

The team was then defeated by the skilled passing and shooting of the Hazel Park 32-43 and Royal Oak 1-45. The Maples downed Hazel Park, Perry Field 45-44 and Ypsilanti 31-28. However,

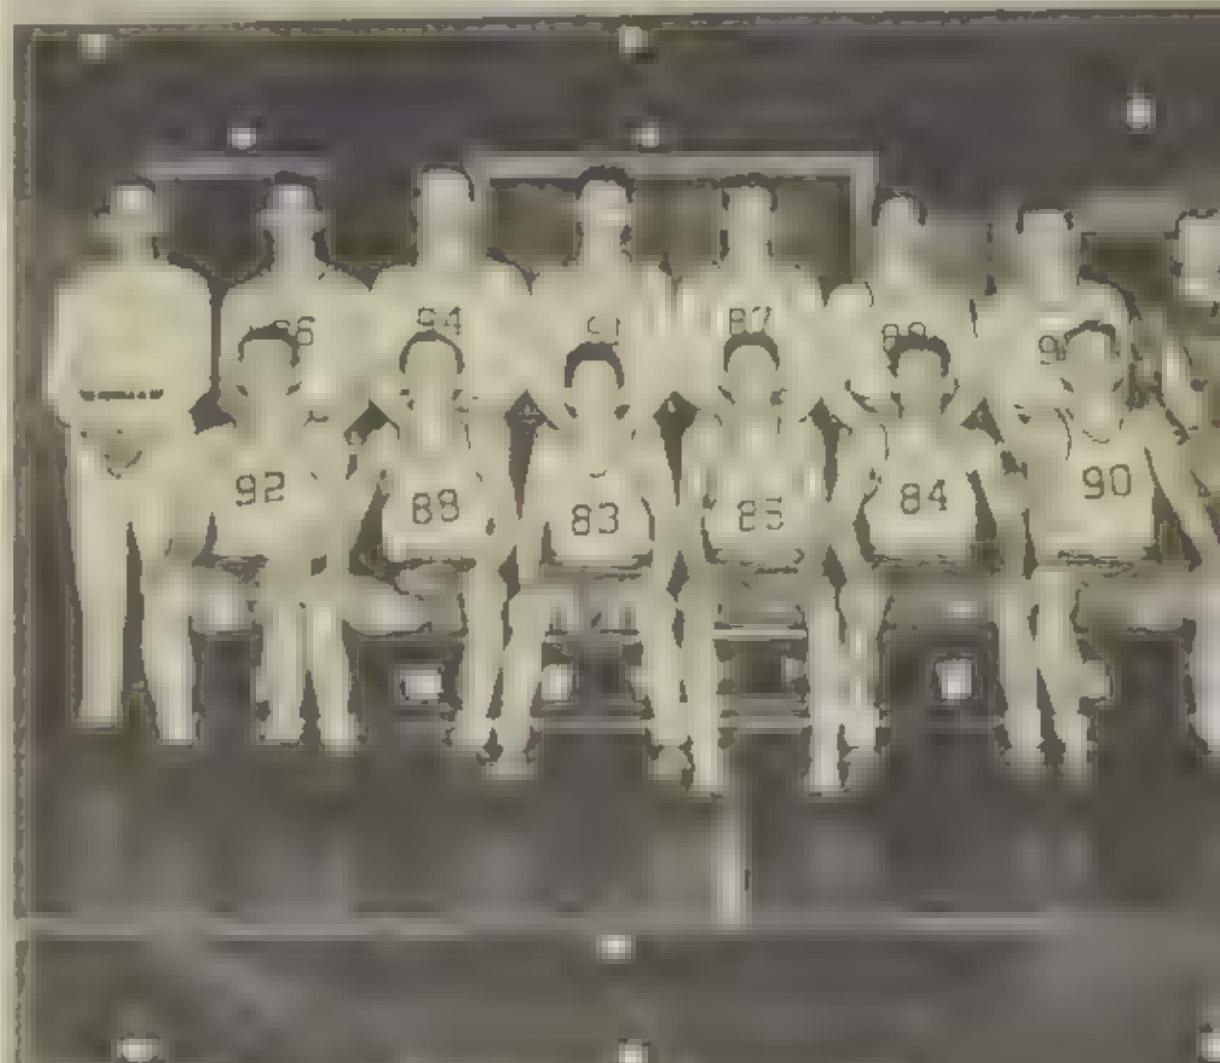

In the district the team won their first game by defeating Hazel Park 51-26, and one by Ferndale 45-22, and one by Farmington 43-4. In the next game over Farmington 43-4, the Maples were 51-26, and the team was beaten by Hazel Park 28-40. The last two games were against L. K. 13-11 and Westland 18-12. The Maples had a record of 5-4 and a loss of 3-5 in the first half of the year.

The Maples won their first game of the second half of the year by defeating L. K. 45-13 with a record of 6-4. In the next five consecutive games they lost the first three which were beaten by Hazel Park 45-26, L. K. 45-30, and Westland 45-26. The last two games were beaten by K. K. 45-24 and L. K. with 2.

In the first game of the year they played at Ferndale and the team had a smooth working time. They started off slowly and trailed 14-10. Then they came back and tied it up at 17-17. In the 3rd quarter they took the lead and never let it go. The final score was 45-38. Harry Kirby was selected as the best player of the season.

Battling

The Baldwin baseball team had excellent prospects for a good season. There were eight lettermen returning, and the Maples were counted on to be strong in every department but pitching.

The only experienced pitcher back was Jim Watt. He got considerable help from Bill Bones and Dean Kramer, sophomores with junior high school experience. Bill Eade, last season's regular catcher who was at first out for pitcher, tried his hand at pitching also.

The catching department was well fortified with regular Bill Eade and other lettermen Bill Garfield and Bud Keller back. This department was the best fortified on the squad.

Don Little, last season's regular short, was the only letterman returning in the infield. There were several other experienced players to fill the gaps, however Stan Clarke and Stan Ford had the track on the keystone position and Jack Gerrard was a good prospect for third. First base was a toss-up, the departure of Bill Spiegel leaving no outstanding candidate for this position.

There were four lettermen outfielders returning and this department seemed well fortified. Conway Adams, regular last season; Al Larsen, Dick Dunn, and Bud Keller, last season's handy man; were all available. The outfield packed plenty of punch as well as good defensive power.

The team as a whole was strong behind the plate and in the outfield. The pitching was not exceptional, but the infield was strong defensively. The outfield was counted on to carry the load at the plate.

The schedule included home, and home contests with Hazel Park, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Clawson, Mount Clemens, and Berkley. The season opened April 21 with Mt. Clemens here and closed with Hazel Park here May 30.

This was Coach Hal Helmer's first baseball season at Baldwin and was as successful as the football season. Coach Helmer believes in having a well conditioned team and says the good hitters will play regardless of fielding.

One defeat and one tie were the only blemishes on the Baldwin track squad's 1943 track season. The Maples were tied in the first meet of the season by Ann Arbor and were defeated late in the season at the hands of Royal Oak, State Area Class A champion, by the close score of 45-43.

Because of the war no state meet was held, but the State Area Meets were set up and the locals won their meet for which they received a beautiful leatherette trophy. Out of a total of 27 Birmingham entries in the meet, 12 managed to place. In all 12 schools were represented at the meet and Birmingham secured most of the first places.

The day after school was officially out for the summer the squad participated in its last meet, the Wayne Relays. For the seventh consecutive year the Maples returned the travelling trophy to Birmingham. The locals accomplished this by winning every first place in the meet and by taking either a second or third in each event besides.

Among the things that the members of this great team will remember in the years to come are the long wait in the blistering heat for their events to be run at the Wayne Relays; the sleet and rain that pelted them at Plymouth in their second dual meet of the season; the tense eager feeling all during the running of the Royal Oak meet hoping against hope that somebody would be "on" and take a first instead of a second or a second instead of a third and thereby win the meet. And last but not least, they will remember "Ernie" Engel who coached this, his last team at Baldwin, to such a fine season.

Racketeers and Linksman

The combination of two new tennis courts, three returning lettermen, and a stiff schedule should make this spring's tennis season an eventful one.

This season, for the first time in many years, Baldwin will have adequate playing facilities and will be able to play some of its matches on its own. Two new tennis courts were constructed on the grounds adjacent to H. School. These are the latest thing in tennis and are not affected by bad weather.

Due to the new courts, Racketeers were able to get off to an early start which helped them greatly during the season.

The backbone of the squad is the return of Don McLeese, Bob Goldman, and Bud Gregory, all of whom received letters last year. Competing for the team are Crandell, Berry L. King, and George Landis.

In his second season as tennis coach, Mr. Pon Grosse has with Pon Grosse, and George Landis. They didn't ing many members of the TVAA is of obtaining transportation.—Bob King Coach Larned Goodrich and the returning tennis lettermen, Don McLeese, Bud Gregory and Bob Goldman.

Launching their 1944 season, the Baldwin divot diggers have had more handicaps than have been encountered in any previous season. Some of these are no returning lettermen, transportation, and the lack of a schedule yet.

Although there are no lettermen returning, Coach Lloyd Chapman has high hopes on the following boys: Bob Wolf, Guy Schmidt, Dave Waddell, Dick Wilson, Ted Sirene, Tom Roth, and Bob Daeschner.

This year as in other years the team will be hard putting the finishing touches on their strokes out at No. 1.

Despite their handicap, this crew should make a good showing because they are by

Water, Water Everywhere

For two years after Barnum pool was built it was kept open during the winter, but in later years it has been closed. Not until this year when a group of civic-minded citizens undertook to finance the opening of the pool was it reopened in winter.

This group raised money by subscription from students and parents and donations from several civic organizations and succeeded in opening the pool for a ten-weeks period. It is hoped that with a surplus that the group has on hand and support from subscribers and the school board, it can be kept open for the entire winter next year.

In the short time that the pool was open earlier in its history, Baldwin made good use of the facilities; and under the able coaching of Ernest Engel, produced a swimming team which won most of its meets and placed third in the State meet. It is the hope of Jay J. Myers, boys' swimming instructor this winter, that next year a team may be organized and swimming once more become a varsity sport at Baldwin.

The pool opened early in February, and about 30 boys attended each of the two nights weekly available for their use.

Mr. Myers says there are several good prospects for team members from the ninth grade at Barnum this year. These boys, together with several who are now in Baldwin, are promising material if a team is organized. Mel Boomer and Larry Stoll are especially good swimmers, Mr. Myers states and Bill Dayner is an exceptional diver.

The pool is also open to high school girls, Girl Scouts Boy Scouts, and one night a week to adults. The Boy Scouts really packed the pool with an average of 60 boys attending. The adult group had a small beginning; but after it got under way it was averaging 30 to 35 swimmers a night.

Dear Bud,

I suppose that as far back as you can remember one of the Garfields has been running the school. This year Bill Garfield, not to be outdone by the rest of his family, ~~is serving as president of the club~~ ~~and serving as president of the club~~ Roosevelt, we

Bud, we won the ~~the~~ and was the after we grad and you l

All the ~~the~~ year really bright after so press in editor's job. ager, about manager. Of course there are who worked real hard and I hope you'll appreciate your copy of the Opus this year.

Remember when the boys had to cross the gulf around to get a date? Well, it's just the opposite this year and believe me it's kind of tough on the girls. They really don't mind 'cause they know that so many of the boys have gone into the service and are out there fighting and helping to bring the end of the war nearer.

Well, I guess that's all for now. I'll be waiting for your letter so please write me soon.

Love,
Dink

In the person of Don Fisher, Baldwin this year had one of the finest combinations of athlete and student in its history. It is no wonder that, in recognition of his accomplishments, his name was engraved on the Johnson Memorial Plaque, highest honor attainable at Baldwin.

This award, instituted in 1931 to honor the memory of the late Coach George F. Johnson, is presented annually to the school's outstanding student-athlete. In making the award athletic prowess and scholastic accomplishments are considered equally.

Since coming to Baldwin in January, 1941, Don has earned five major letters, been president of four important organizations, and was made a member of the National Honor Society, a record few attain.

The greatest shot-putter in Baldwin history, Don broke the school record two years ago and last year broke his own record with a heave of 48 feet, one-half inch; he was State Area Class B shot put champion last year and has won three track letters for his efforts.

He achieved this perfection by long hours of practice in his back yard. In his autumn pastime, football, Don has been regular right tackle on the last two Maple elevens, winning two letters in that sport. Of interest to all has been his rivalry in football and the shot-put with Royal Oak's big Bruce Flu. Don broke his rival's jinx last year with victories in the shot and in the annual Turkey Day Football game.

While not on the athletic field, "Fish" has served ably as president of his class for four semesters and more recently as head of the Varsity Club. The fine condition of the Sports Hall of Fame is due mainly to his efforts.

Graduated last January and now in the United States Navy, Don will be long remembered as one of Baldwin's greats.

—Tom Allen.

A few years from now, we picture Jackie Buck working feverishly in the laboratory on her new secret invention which she has discovered in her spare time. You've guessed it—Jackie plans to be a laboratory technician and is carefully saving all her notes from Mr. Hubbard's class. We're sure that she'd make a good one, for she certainly has all the qualifications necessary—brains, efficiency, capability, and willingness to work hard.

To get an idea of a few of the things Jackie has done in her years at Baldwin (lucky ones for us), let's name some. Jackie was this year's president of the Girls' League and president of the National Honor Society. She was awarded the D.A.R. Citizenship Award this year, and last spring Jackie was sent as the Wolverine Girls' State representative to Ann Arbor from Birmingham. Part of the success of last year's all-school play Jane Mad was due to Jackie's careful planning and organizing in the capacity of business manager. As vice president of the Assembly Club Jackie has helped a lot with the fine assemblies we've had this year.

Long-limbed and tall, Jackie is an active member of the up-and-coming girls' basketball team, an accomplished swimmer, and an enthusiastic camper. Last summer she spent her time as a junior counselor at camp. Jackie is also talented in music and the drama. She had one of the important roles in Arsenic and Old Lace. And still she finds time to practice her clarinet and maintain a good standing in the school band!

You can always depend on Jackie for anything, and she is never too busy to do a favor for you. All in all, she's a pretty swell gal!

Possessing a vocabulary of adjectives that would scare even Noah Webster, Bill Garfield has talked himself up the ladder of Baldwin student government and is now finishing his second term as president of Student Congress.

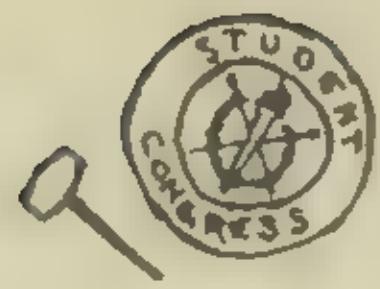

Coming from a family that includes a former Who's Who and two presidents of graduating classes, Bill has had a family tradition to keep up and has come through in fine style.

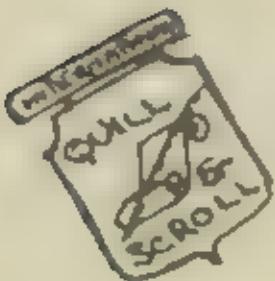

Ever since he entered junior high school, some six years ago, there has seldom been an election in which Bill's name was not on the ballot. In his long and varied political career, he has been vice president and president of the Baldwin Junior High School Student Council, president of the sophomore class, vice president of the Defense Council, and a member, vice president, and president of Congress, being only the third person in school history to hold this office twice.

Spending the summer at Willow Run, he kept Mr. Hubbard's aeronautics class informed with his constant references to "The way they do it on the Liberators." His arguments supporting the "Make-work fallacy" have started many an argument in Mr. Myers' economics class.

In his favorite sport and hobby, baseball, he has done all right for himself. He went out for catcher in the ninth grade and has since won three letters. Last summer he headed the senior division of the summer recreation baseball school, and in his early days, always had a team of his own. In addition to this he spent four years as chief cook and bottle-washer for the football squad, serving as head manager of the '42 squad.

His ambition is to be a lawyer, and there is little doubt that his word power will in future years leave many an opponent baffled.

Editor of this 1944 Piper, third editor in ten years and treasurer of the National Honor Society, are only a few of the achievements of William W. D. McLeese.

Cheerful and industrious, Don is a natural member of any group. He has served for two and a half years on Baldwin Publications. He has also been basketball and football reporter for the Eccentric and did some writing while a sophomore for the Highlander. Journalism is Don's aim as a profession and he is planning to attend the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University.

Besides being outstanding in publications work, Don has served in the Student Congress and is at present president of the Varsity Club.

He was the only member of his class to receive a varsity letter in his sophomore year. (He was also president of his sophomore class).

In his first year Don was very active in Scouting and reached his Eagle rank. He also won the Gold Quality Award for highest achievement.

Don's hobby except writing is eating with anyone he sees - only hot motivo; even remedy food. He seldom seen without some kind of pastry or ice cream, and declares that he works best on a full stomach.

As if his school work and activities during the week were not enough, he serves as a Sunday School instructor at the Presbyterian church.

Mary Jane Tipton had an idea which almost failed at first but the rest of us were just nicely getting started. But we made it and now it is one of our best ideas.

Mary Jane was elected to be editor and Quill and Scroll was chosen to be from having a newspaper. A newspaper is greatly needed in the school at the present time. Mary Jane will be writing editorials and news items. She will also be in charge of the school program and the 1943 Piper; assistant circuit editor in the news at The Highlander; editor of the Girls League news and editor of the year books. In addition to these duties she has always busy days ahead of her.

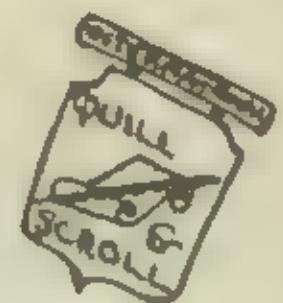

Mary Jane will do all she can to help in every way she could know. I wish you all would do what you were doing and still more. I hope you all will be going on in class. She is a good girl.

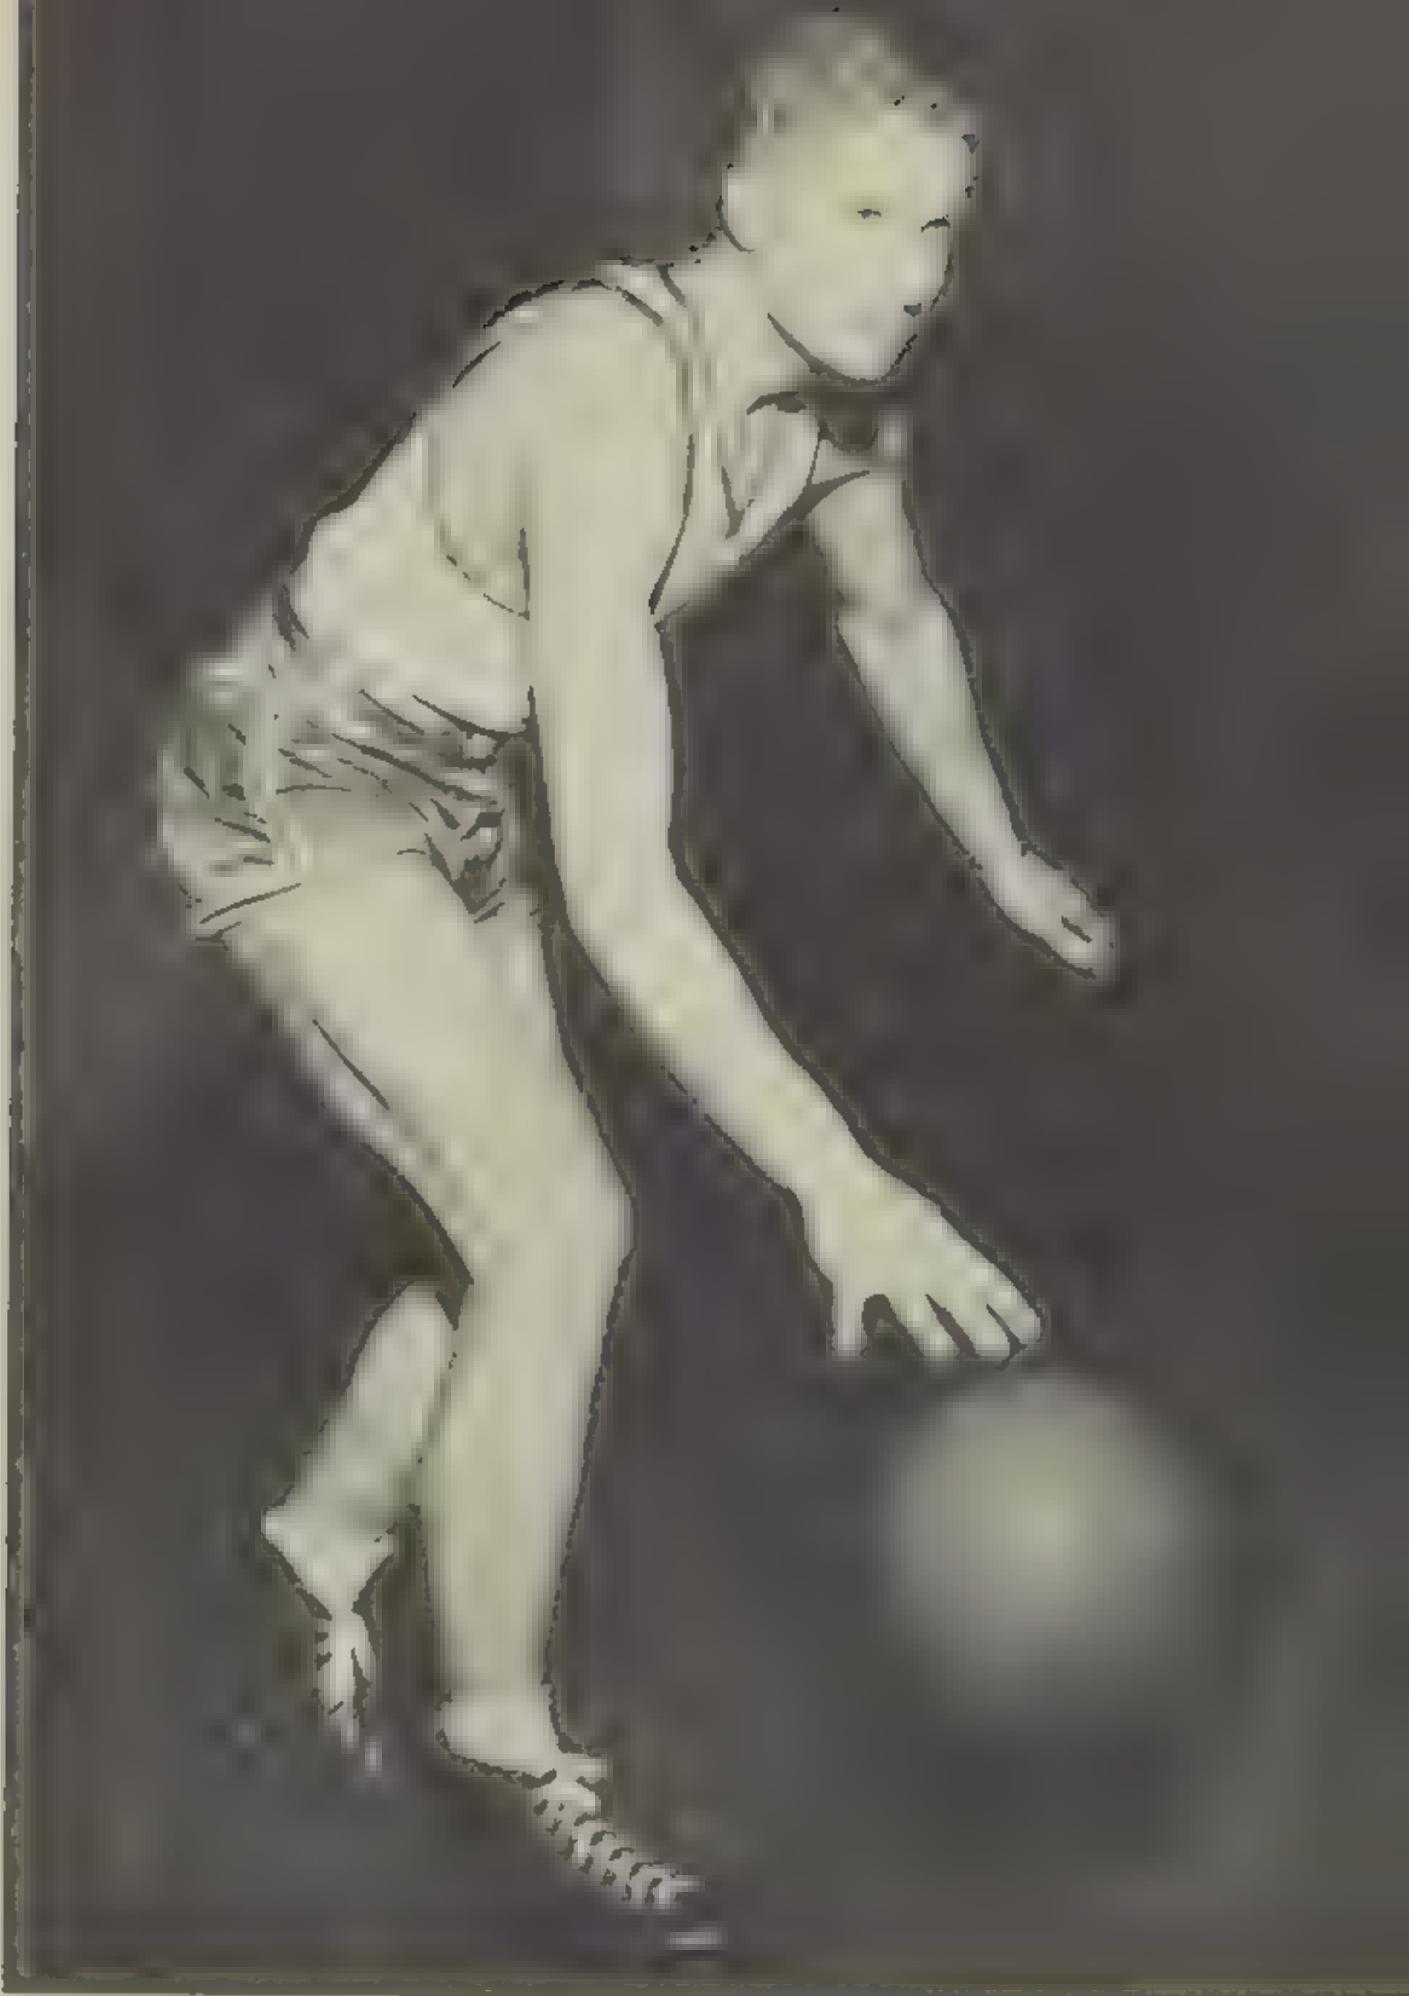

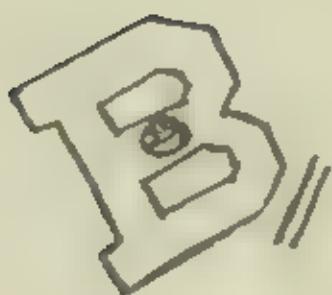

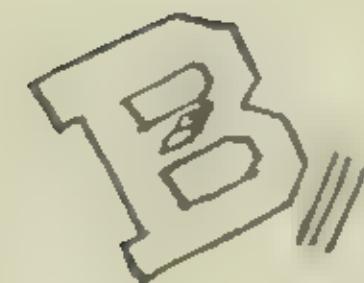

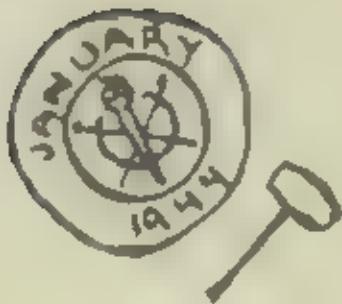

She is a good editor and says that she can't do it without us. I suppose all you girls will help her out and we'd see if it works for you.

What do you think? Mary Jane enjoys horseback riding and likes to squeeze the money out of her mother's weekly allowance which is she calls it. She says that next summer she will go to college and says she will be a teacher. She is a good girl in she does on her excuses.

Next fall Mary Jane plans to go to the University of Michigan and is very interested in preparing for the English major. She wants to be a teacher in the future. I hope you all will support her in a few years when she goes to college. I am sure she will be a good teacher. Miss Mary Jane Tipton is a good girl. I hope you all will support her in her efforts.

An inspiration to growth where he has come in contact Fred Zehr has given his best to Bielwur athletes and in other areas will surprise it is concern to those who appreciate the qualities of his efforts.

A three star in the reception center main hockey and three star in his first year his account shuns with pleasure and has wasted Fred Zehr in the field of sports and in the past he has been a member of the Bielwur Club and the American Legion football team and the Bielwur basketball team. A star in the AA class he was run down and injured in the field of basketball but Fred Zehr is the star of the AA class with his class of my three years he has kept him from further participation in basketball. Fred has a son named

John Zehr in the past two seasons Fred has had Fred help him get ready for games and the City of St. Paul City and the defensive work Bielwur's athletes back to the others have helped in the past in which they have seen.

The past with Fred Zehr has been an inspiring example of the great in the game. I would like to thank the members of Bielwur, new players, old players, old and new, for their contributions to the great Fred Zehr, the man who is the star of the game, and the love of the sport he loves.

"In the fall of the past year, Fred Zehr, a party of the New York First, "I have won him the title of the year, it is a solid one and he has been a good player ever since he came to the U.S.A. Fred is now in America right in the United States Army Air Force.

National Honor Society

To be elected to the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors a Boy's student can receive. New members, chosen by the faculty advisers, are selected for scholarship, leadership, service and character. Although scholarship is considered the first requirement for membership, the students must also be outstanding in the other three qualities.

The number elected each semester is approximately fifteen. The total enrollment is usually the constitution to new members. In December of the 11A class, ten percent of the 12B class and thirteen percent of the 12A class.

Last year Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. E. Baldwin's chapter with a beauiful banner. During the induction ceremony the banner hangs at the back of the stage where it is seen by everyone. The rest of the time the banner graces the wall in the main office.

The Honor Society meets every Friday morning at 8:15. Its chief duty is to conduct the semi-annual induction ceremony in January and June and making arrangements for the pin given in honor of the newly-elected members immediately following the ceremony.

Money for the National Honor Society is obtained from dues and from other sources. This year the Society received eight percent of the profits from the play.

The following members of the Society during the first semester were: president, Sue Burnside; vice president, Betty Stipe; secretary, Virginia Bostwick; treasurer, Merle Taylor; and members Don Fisher, Mary Lee Taylor, Jack Bink, and Ann Halladay.

Admittance during the second semester were: president, Jack Bink; vice president, Ann Halladay; secretary, Janet Zinser; treasurer, Don McLeese. Members were Jeanne Blinn, Grace Bowes, Jane Ladd, Gerry Flynn, Nan Gilbreath, Jack Milne, Sally McLean, Lois Murray, Betty Lou Thurman, and Jeanne Winkler.

Faculty advisers of the Society are Miss Merle Taylor and Mrs. Adele Halladay.

Dues for the Society are twenty-five cents a semester. There is no induction fee required of the new members. The National Honor Society has jewelry, insignias, pins, and charms, which can be purchased from National Headquarters if the members so desire, but these are not required.

Persons wearing the insignia of the National Honor Society will be recognized not only by their classmates but also by high school students all over the United States as outstanding students and leaders. Membership in the National Honor Society is a goal worth attaining.

—Janet Zinser

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is the newest honorary society for high school students in New York. It was founded by George Gould of American Stocks and most outstanding journalists are its honorary members. Its headquarters is at 1650 Broadway at 51st Street, Northwestern University.

The Baldwin chapter was founded in 1941 but no members were elected until 1943 because of the depression. It is named the Baldwin Writers after its honorary founders.

Only seniors in the upper classes of their classes are eligible for membership. They must have done distinguished work in Baldwin Facultators and only extra-curricular work is considered. This requires editorial work such as writing, advertising and business.

The faculty advisors of Baldwin Publications recommend selects meeting these requirements. The initial election is then made by the executive secretary of Quill and Scroll, who receives names and qualifications, backed up by complete work of all recommended candidates.

The new member is given a key to the office and he is presented with his choice of a key or pin. He is also honored at a banquet, costs of which are borne by the club's members, but which costs him $10.00.

Baldwin Publications maintains a fifty dollar trust fund in Quill and Scroll. The fund was founded in memory of Lydia Forester, Jim Alter and Tom Navin of the Writers Group.

These are the names of Quill and Scroll and Baldwin's faculty members:

Editor-in-chief: Mr. 44, 45 and 47 Pipers.

Dear Bud,

Probably you've heard plenty about the rationing going on back home but it's really not at all bad. The merchants' shelves are still well filled although some of delicacies like butter and meat are missing.

We can beans add, of them are keep now 'c really. We - ing our materials they ju on that of a place isn't new has some kids twin u care my ration tokens now). And you can have your blue. But if you want to eat both meat and canned goods you have to have both - red for meat and blue for canned goods, etc. They're much smaller than those big ration books.

You know I think this war is helping to develop peoples' minds. With these ration points and gas coupons to ponder over, you really have to use your head, believe me!

Well, I'm going uptown now so I'll mail this. Hope I hear from you soon. Love,

Marge —

Your Work

Now, and After the War

In our business there are many vocational opportunities now and after the war. Many young people will want to keep this in mind when they embark on a job

Printing work has always been regarded as interesting and, in fact, fascinating. It is light and healthful, tending to stimulate rather than oppress the natural mental energies, particularly of younger people

As a vocation it is both profitable and steady, and, of course, the convenience of working right here in Birmingham is pretty obvious

If you are interested, inquire at our office
